Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Numas Vision: An Allegory; Sic Semper Tyrannis On a beautiful autumn morning, shortly after sunrise, two noble looking horsemen trotted their animals leisurely along the Via Ostiensis, toward Rome. Although garments and bearing already distinguished the men as foreigners, their language in particular betrayed the polished Carthaginians they were. Lazily the Tiber flowed in its bed, clusters of willows, which thickly lined the shore, partly concealing from view the muddy, yellow waters of the stream. In the distance the statue of Capitoline Jupiter was already becoming visible, while light mists ascended from the precincts of the city. Thus they pursued their way contentedly among the shady poplars. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
