

Epic Season: The 1948 American League Pennant Race

By David E. Kaiser

University of Massachusetts Press, United States, 1998.

Paperback. Book Condition: New. New.. 231 x 155 mm.

Language: English . Brand New Book. This book recounts the story of one of the most memorable seasons in the history of major league baseball. Drawing on interviews with surviving participants as well as daily newspaper accounts, David Kaiser re-creates the drama of the 1948 American League pennant race and places it within a broader historical context. Unfolding at a time when baseball truly was America's national pastime, the 48 season saw three teams vie for a championship that always seemed within reach but was never assured. In Cleveland, under the guidance of maverick owner Bill Veeck and charismatic player-manager Lou Boudreau, the Indians set new attendance records. In Boston, Ted Williams enhanced his already fabled reputation with another extraordinary season, leading a Red Sox team that new manager Joe McCarthy had reshaped during the off-season. In New York, the defending champion Yankees struggled to repeat behind a crippled Joe DiMaggio. In a year in which no team ever led the league by as many as four games, these three teams eventually found themselves in a tie with just nine days to go,...
