Singapore's Challenges in the Information Era

By Christian Abels

Grin Verlag Feb 2012, 2012. Taschenbuch. Book Condition: Neu. 210x148x4 mm. This item is printed on demand - Print on Demand Titel. - Diploma Thesis from the year 2009 in the subject South Asian Studies, South-Eastern Asian Studies, grade: 2,3, University of Bonn, course: Regionalwissenschaften Südostasien, Medienwissenschaften, language: English, abstract: Singapore's media system has been stable through a period of revolutionary change and impressive reform elsewhere. While new players and technologies have found its way into the media scene, the ruling People's Action Party (PAP) upholds the media's fundamental structure. Historical racial rioting has been linked to justify the subordinate role of the press. In contrast to the Western Press which is often denominated as the fourth estate of the state, the Singaporean press is rather to support the PAP's politics. Due to different political, historical, cultural and economic environment, authoritarian politicians in Southeast Asia argue that freedom of the press, as a Western concept, has a different meaning and weight unlike in the Western industrial nations because of its different value system. The Asian values require the harmony between the press and the state as in the partners in nationbuilding to maintain its authoritarian governance and...
